COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 31.-James Anderson, the noted desperado and robber, after a most audacious escape from the Cincinnati jail, had his leave of absence brought to a sudden termination by Detective Pat Kelly of the Columbus police force, at Cleveland Sunday morning. Anderson was wanted for several burglaries in this city, but could not be found until within the past few months. He was accidentally run down by officers at Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, and captured after a hot exchange of shots being wounded in the thigh. With him was his pal, Geo. Duncan, a convict, who was returned to the penitentiary. Anderson recovered from his wound and a few weeks since startled the community of Cincinnati by escaping from jail, leaving a dummy in his bed and enough money to close the eyes of some of his guards. Communications were opened guards. Communications were opened up between Columbus and Cincinnati detectives to shadow Anderson's family. Saturday night a message was received at headquarters here that Mrs. Anderson and children had boarded a train for the northern part of the state. Detective Pat Kelly boarded a train and went to Cleveland. There the desperado was in waiting for his family and was promptly placed under arrrest. The indictments pending against him are sufficient to keep him in the penitentiary the remainder of his natural life.

M. Einstein desperado and burglar, who was captured here by Detective Kelly, left for Cincinnati at 8:30 o'clock on the Big Four. While in this city Anderson boarded at a fashionable boarding house on Prospect street, representing himself to be an agent for maps. He was kept well supplied with money and became intimate with the residents of the house. His capture was easily effected in spite of the fact that his wife kept a vigorous watch for officers on the train in which she came. As Anderson was walking up the street As Anderson was walking up the street with his family, his wife looked over her shoulder and saw Kelly following them. She advised Anderson to surrender quietly, which he did. His injured hip, where he was shot by Cincinnati officers, has bothered him considerably since he has been here.
